

About Randall Rapstine:

---

Studied acting in New York at the William Esper Studios two-year professional training program, under Maggie Flannigan.

Eleven years performing in various regional theatre while living on the east coast.

Founded the Choices Theatre Project on E. 4th Street, NYC in the 80s.

Assisted producer John Glines on the Pulitzer Prize and Tony award-winning Broadway production of "As Is."

Traveled to Russia with The Barter Theatre of Virginia in the world premiere play, "The Angels Share" by J. Kline.

Assisted casting of major motion pictures such as "Men In Black" and "Washington Square."

Assistant to the Producer at The Vineyard Playhouse on Martha's Vineyard.

Previous Artistic Director for Los Angeles' The MET Theatre.

Assisted casting of television programming with legendary casting professionals Lucy Cavallo and Holly Powell.

Toured extensively in the United States with his original two-man comedy "Common Knowledge, written with Doug Budin.

Directed Margaret Cho's Off-Broadway burlesque review "The Sensuous Woman."

Director of James Judd's hit one-man comedy "7 Sins," which sold out in San Francisco and has played throughout Canada and in Washington, D.C., New York and The Edinburgh Fringe Festival.

Numerous appearances in film and television.